Mr. Michael Savage, Assistant Chief
Hazardous Waste Division
Ohio Environmental Protection Agency

Dear Mr. Savage:

DRAFT SITE TREATMENT PLAN

In October of 1992, the Federal Facilities Compliance Act (FFCA) was signed into law by President Bush. The FFCA requires Department of Energy (DOE) facilities, including the Fernald Environmental Management Project (FEMP), which store mixed wastes to prepare site treatment plans describing the schedule for the development of treatment capacities and technologies. On April 6, 1993, the DOE published a Federal Register notice (58 FR 17875) describing the process for developing the site treatment plans in three phases: the conceptual site treatment plan (CSTP), the draft site treatment plan (DSTP), and a final site treatment plan (FSTP).

Enclosed you will find two (2) copies of the FEMP DSTP. This plan identifies the FEMP strategy and the current preferred options for the treatment of mixed wastes. Please note that the options evaluated in the DSTP may involve activities that are not currently funded in the approved site or project baselines, and may not be incorporated into the projected funding profiles. Selection of the final treatment will require consideration of available site or project funding, which is subject to Congressional appropriations.

The FEMP looks forward to continuing the cooperative working relationship that has been established with the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency in the development of the site treatment plans. Please address any comments or questions you may have to John Sattler at (513) 648-3145.

Sincerely,
